

METHODS, SYSTEMS AND STORAGE MEDIUM FOR DISTRIBUTING CONTENT BASED ON USER COMMUNITIES

ABSTRACT

A method of distributing content to consumers includes allowing a consumer to join a community and monitoring access to content by members of the community. A community interest in the content is determined in response to members of the community accessing the content. The content is automatically distributed to the consumer over a distribution network in response to the community interest.